

Nathan Israel Smolin

captpeabody@gmail.com

PhD Candidate, Department of Classics

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Education

High School, Heritage Academy (05/2011)

BA in Classics, Samford University (05/2015)

Senior Project: “Against Religion: Lucretian and Christian Anti-Pagan Rhetoric on the Road to Theodosius”

MA in Classics, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill (05/2017)

Thesis: “Divine Vengeance in Herodotus' Histories” Advisor: Dr. Emily Baragwanath

Publications & Papers Presented

Published “Divine Vengeance in Herodotus' Histories,” Journal of Ancient History 6.1 (2018).

Presented paper on “1054: History, Myth, and the Making of a Schism” at 49th International Congress for Medieval Studies in Kalamazoo, MI (2014).

Activities

Attended Paideia Institute's Living Latin in Rome Program (June-July 2014)

Lilly Graduate Fellow in Humanities and the Arts (2015-present)

Teaching Assistant, UNC Chapel Hill: Ancient Mythology (Fall 2015), Ancient Athletics (Spring 2016)

Instructor, UNC Chapel Hill: Latin 101 (Fall 2016, Fall 2018), Latin 102 (Spring 2017), Latin 203 (Fall 2017, Spring 2018)

Attended Gennadius Library's Summer Session on Medieval Greek at the American School in Athens