

Possessing Knowledge: Archiving, Collecting, and Displaying in the Ancient World

Saturday, April 21, 2007

9:00 AM-5:00 PM

116 Old Chemistry Building
Duke University

Keynote Address by
Dr. Richard Janko
University of Michigan

“The Library of the Villa of the Papyri: Deciphering its Nature, Origins, and History”

Anna Kouremenos

CUNY-Hunter College

Pharaonic collections in households and graves in the Roman Fayum

Tracy Lea Hensley

UT-Austin

Restoring Pornography to the Elite: Re-sexualizing Pompeian Private Collections

Müge Durusu

Bilkent, Turkey

The City as the Spatial Dimension of Knowledge: the Mouseion, the Library and Alexandria

Eleanor Rust

University of Southern California

Miscellaneous Knowledge: Disorder in the Attic Nights

Elizabeth Robinson

UNC-Chapel Hill

The Collection and Display of the Polyphemus Sculptural Groups at Sperlonga, Baia, and Tivoli

Sarah Bond

UNC-Chapel Hill

Bibliocaust and Biblioclast: Book burning and the destruction of classical collections from Protagoras to the Baghdad Museum of Archaeology

With an Introduction by:

Dr. George Houston

UNC-Chapel Hill

A Brief Introduction to Roman Libraries and Book Collections