PUBLIC LECTURE

“The ‘Populus of the Future’: Children in the Forum?”
Professor Ray Laurence (University of Kent; Macquarie University)

Reception to Follow

Ray Laurence has been a Professor of Roman History at the University of Kent since 2010. His research spans a number of topics, including Pompeii, roads and communications, and the Roman city in the West. He is also a prize-winning teacher and public scholar, working in a variety of formats to engage the general public with ancient history.

Sponsored in part by:
UNC-CH Student Congress • The Graduate School • The Division of Fine Arts and Humanities
The Graduate and Professional Student Federation • The Ancient World Mapping Center