PETITION TO COUNT HONORS THESIS CREDIT TOWARDS THE MAJOR LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

Students writing an Honors thesis may request that one semester (3 credits) of their thesis project (CLAS 691H or 692H) count towards the upper-level language requirement of their major (i.e., courses above GREK/LATN 205). In order to receive this substitution, students should discuss appropriate readings with their thesis supervisor and obtain his or her approval. Supervisors: please note that the amount read should be at least the equivalent of what would be covered in a normal Greek or Latin course at the 220 level. Students must then complete this form and present it to the Director of Undergraduate Studies, who will sign it and approve the substitution in the student's record. The student must lastly submit the completed and signed form to the Department Secretary so that a record may be kept in the Department's files. The deadline for submission is the end of March. Students: please note that in signing this form you are testifying under the Honor Code that you have read the works listed below in the original Greek or Latin. It is the student's responsibility to obtain from his or her supervisor or other committee members any needed assistance with reading these texts.
