

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL
DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS
UNDERGRADUATE PETITION TO TAKE A GRADUATE COURSE

Typically, UNC undergraduates are permitted to register for courses up to the 699 level, and, as per University policy, under no circumstances will undergraduates be permitted to take 900-level courses. In exceptional cases, however, the Department of Classics permits qualified undergraduates to petition to take 700-899 graduate courses. Students wishing to petition must obtain the permission of the instructor, departmental director of undergraduate studies, and the departmental chair, and be able to justify their need to take a graduate course in the space provided below. Decisions will be made in consideration of the individual student's academic performance and needs while also are contingent on course enrollments. Students must discuss their petition with each approver before approval may be granted in the order listed below. All completed forms must be given to the departmental registrar in MU 212 five business days before the last day for late registration of the term under consideration.
